Dear Sir/Madam,

I understand that there is a proposal for a late night cafe in 14a Woburn Street in the previous coffee shop on the South side of the street and close to the top of the hill. This would be in a largely residential area with no local parking and only forty metres from our house in Claridges Lane.

The late night opening would suggest a considerable risk of the clients being rowdy and anti-social although probably not criminal. There would be a likelihood of damage to property being done and it would be most unpleasant for people returning home after an evening out. The nearby pub, The Queens Head, has an excellent local reputation, the clients are not aggressive and usually leave at a reasonable hour.

There is considerable risk of danger to the public, caused not only by clients spilling over onto the pavement and street but also from delivery vehicles causing obstruction during the day. The brewery lorries cause enough hassle as it is but the pub has been there a long time and those of us who have come later knew what to expect.

There is only one small room to accommodate the clients so there will inevitably be a degree of 'takeaway' activity. This will mean the obstruction of a narrow street just below the brow of a hill and, or, parking in the side streets and drives of local house owners, adding to the noise and pollution caused by the café itself.

We beg you to prevent this serious disruption of our locality and town.

Yours faithfully.
